NOTES OF THE SOCIETY

Our special TENTH ANNIVERSARY meeting was enjoyed by all who were present. Most unfortunately the weatherman chose that day for a downpour of rain which kept many from attending. However, we are now well started on our way toward a second ten years of interesting work and fellowship. The regular meeting on October 12, led by the program chairman, Mr. Coylon Newton Woodruff, was given over to a general discussion by members, a kind of program which we all enjoy and which always brings out many interesting genealogical items.

Mrs. Chalmers A. Monteith of Martin, Michigan, a long time member of the society, was present at a meeting for the first time in October. She brought with her a most interesting exhibit - a sort of hair album, containing locks of hair of her family of several generations, woven into lacelike designs and labeled with names.

At the meeting in November, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. MaWhinney of Flint, Michigan, who have been members of the society for sometime, were welcomed at their first meeting. It is always a pleasure to have our out-of-town members meet with us.

It is with regret that we report the deaths of any of our members at any time. Two of our older members have died since the last issue of the magazine. Mrs. Mary Bishop Grant died October 8 at her home in Grosse Pointe Farms. Mrs. Grant was a charter member of the society but had been inactive for the past few years.

Mr. Maurice Reuben Blair died in Royal Oak, Michigan, on October 17. Mr. Blair would have been eighty-eight years old on December 18. For his ancestry, compiled by himself, see the issues of this magazine for June to October, 1941, under the title, "Descendants of William Wood and Henry Warrenner".

Marriages make pleasant items, so we are glad to announce that Elisabeth Rosemary Austin, daughter of Frederick R. Austin of Detroit, was married Saturday, September 7th in the First Congregational Church, to George Douglas Hebb, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Hebb of Detroit. Elisabeth resigned as a clerk with the Detroit Public Library in September. George is employed as a bookbinder in the Library's bindery. He is a veteran of World War II - in service in the infantry in Europe.

Marion M. Berning, brother of Miss Dorris M. Berning, youngest child of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Berning of Reedsburg, Wisconsin, and Lillian Elaine Keenholts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Monroe Keenholts of Los Angeles, California, were married September 6, 1946 at Kingman, Arizona. The groom served four years in the AAF, 5th Air Force, 3d Bomb Gp., 90th Bomb Sqd., thirty-eight months in the Pacific in action from Brisbane, Australia, to Okinawa. They will live in Los Angeles.

It was with a shock that we learned through the press and radio of the sudden death on Sunday, November 10, of Dr. Sanford A. Moss of Lynn, Massachusetts. Dr. Moss was internationally known as a scientist and inventor. We knew him as a genial fellow enthusiast in the field of genealogy and an antiquarian of note. Although a far-away member of the society, we saw him rather frequently on his visits to a daughter and grandchildren in Detroit. And we remember with pleasure the amusing talk he gave at one time on his search through the United States and Europe for some lost family silhouettes. The Burton Collection of the Detroit Public Library has several of his writings in genealogical fields, as: The Descendants of John Moss and his wife, Rebecca (Lyons) Moss, 1937; Moss-Harris Pedigree Chart - Ancestors and Descendants of Samuel Lyons Moss and his wife, Isabelle (Harris) Moss, 1943; Genealogy of Samuel Moss and his wife, Eleanor Tittermary (Mercer) Moss; Notes on the Donnelly Family. (For a record of his achievements see Who's Who in America, Vol. 24, 1946-1947.)

Mrs. E. B. Kresge of the Research Committee, at the special request of Dr. Moss, has been arranging and completing his notes on the family of Solomon Sibley, an early settler from the East in Detroit. Dr. Moss had for a long time been collecting the data in the interests of his grandchildren, but found himself too much occupied otherwise to finish the task. He had been impressed with the fine record which Mrs. Kresge had made of the family of Charles Christopher Trowbridge, another early settler of Detroit in whom Dr. Moss was also personally interested. This was published in this magazine, and we shall, perhaps, be able to publish the Sibley record also.

Mrs. James D. McGlynn (Estelle Arseneault) reports that Mr. J. Georges Gilbert of Rue DuPont, La Sarre, Province Quebec, Canada, is preparing a genealogy of all the Gilberts in North America. He now has more than 300 families. This should be of interest to many in the society who have Gilbert ancestry.

Mr. Ceylon Newton Woodruff has presented to the society a copy of "The Woodruffs of Elizabethtown, New Jersey - A Branch" by B. C. Woodruff of Canal Zone, a sixty-eight page typed manuscript.

The Records Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Raymond Millbrook, is making a special effort to get the ancestral charts of all of our members. If you have not made out yours, or if by chance you do not know about these charts, please get in touch with Mrs. Millbrook and find out what you are to do.

James Johnson Robinson, father of Francis Waring Robinson of Detroit, died at his home in Lakeville, Connecticut, on September 23rd, 1946, aged eighty-three years. Dr. Robinson was born in Granville, Ohio, July 20, 1863, the son of Thomas Johnson and Ann (Copland) Robinson. A graduate of Princeton, a Ph.D. from Yale, he spent forty-five years as a student and teacher in America and Europe. For twenty-five of these years, until his retirement in 1929, he was head of the Latin Department of Hotchkiss School in Lakeville. His wife, Anna (Waring) Robinson, three children, three grandchildren and three great grandchildren survive him. His lineage is from James 1, a Scotsman, who came to America early in the 18th Century; William 2, born in Virginia, captured by the Indians and taken to Ohio, where he later settled; James 3, born in Virginia but residing in Ohio; and Thomas Johnson 4, who removed to Granville, Ohio. Francis Waring Robinson has nearly ready for publication the genealogy of the Robinson family. (See "In Memoriam", Lakeville Journal, Oct. 3, 1946.)

The President opened the November meeting with an interesting story of how he had found some of his ancestors through the poll of an election in which George Washington was running for the House of Burgesses in Virginia. Mr. George F. Blount introduced the speaker, Mrs. William F. Cleveland, with an interesting talk on "Genealogical Libraries". She also led the lively and instructive discussion following.

Mrs. Norman H. Anning's impish Muse again contributes her bit to genealogy:

Back behind the centuries
Randulfi had for wife Denise
Valiant Geoffrey mared Joan,
Osbert won Agnes for his own
And John marr'd Marye.

Several hundred years wheeled by Roger married Margery,
Thomas married Sarah Jane,
Frederick wed the sweet Elaine
And John he m. Mary.

Betty, Lizzie, Sally Ann
Marry George and Bob and Dan.
Generations come and go
But every Jock will have his "Jo"
And every John his Mary.

Part III

Who was Reliance (Paine) Cobb?

"A History of the Cobb Family" states: "Jedediah 5 Cobb (Ebenezer 4, Samuel 3, Jonathan 2, Henry 1), b. Aug. 8, 1742, (at Falmouth, Me.), m. (1) Feb. 7, 1765, Reliance Paine". This marriage is also listed among those from the diary of the Rev. Dr. Deane. But in neither case is there any clue to the identity of the parents of Reliance Paine. From her obituary notice in the "Eastern Herald and Gazette of Maine" (Portland) of May 4, 1801,

"Died.- At Gorham 20th ult. Mrs. Reliance Cobb, wife of Mr. Jedediah Cobb of that town, aged 56", we learn that she was born about 1745.

That there was at least one Paine family living in Falmouth at that period is indicated by a group of Paine marriage records collected from a manuscript entitled "Portland Records" in the N. E. Historic Genealogical Library (a), the printed records of the First Church at Falmouth (b), and other published records of Falmouth(c):

1751,	Ham, Jotham and Phebe Paine (b)
1754, Sept. 23,	Blanchard, Moses and Sarah Paine (c)
1754, Nov. 23,	Morse, Jonathan, Jr. and Experience Paine (c)
1762, Sept. 25,	Jones, Isaac and Hannah Paine (c)
1765, Jan. 1,	Lowell, Abner and Mercy Paine (a)
1765, Feb. 7,	Cobb, Jedediah and Reliance Paine (a)
1767, Feb. 19,	Paine, Capt., to Dorcas Cox (Int. Paine, Jona. to Dorcas Cocks (a)
1773, Mch. 25,	Bayley, James to Sarah Paine (a)
1773, Nov. 11,	Cammett, Dudley to Elizabeth Paine (a, c)
1781, Apr. 26,	Haskell, John to Mary Paine (a)
1781, Dec. 6,	Paine, Thomas to Anna Haskell (a)

In "Portland in the Past" (1860) pp.371-2, we learn the name of the father of one of these girls, as the author, William Gould, states: "Capt. Abner Lowell married Mercy Paine, daughter of Jonathan Paine".

In the published records of the First Church we find

"1750, Paine, Jonathan and Mercy his wife admitted from the church at Eastham"

and so we are led to the Eastham branch of the "Paine Family Records" where we find the following:

"JONATHAN PAINE, b. Dec. 10, 1710, son of Joseph and Patience Paine of Harwich, married Mercy Doane, of Eastham, daughter of Nathaniel Doane, of Eastham, Feb. 1, 1732-3, where he located. Farther of him but very little known.

CHILDREN (as given in old Eastham records);

1. Phoebe, b. Apr. 10, 1734
2. Mary*, b. July 2, 1736
3. Experience, b. Oct. 20, 1738
4. Jonathan, b. May 14, 1741
5. Mercy, b. Oct. 2, 1743"

(*Mercy in the Doane Genealogy).

Surely there can be little doubt that the reason why so little was known of Jonathan Paine at Eastham, Mass. was that he moved from that town to Falmouth, Maine, between 1743 and 1750. By a deed dated 9 April 1751, Joseph Thoms Laborer and Mary Thoms, his wife, for Five pounds Six shills. paid by Jonathan Paine of Falmouth, housewright, convey to Jonathan Paine and A. Lowell (doubtless the father of Abner Lowell who later married Mercy Paine) a small lot of land in Falmouth Neck. (York Deeds, 30:367). By another deed, of Feb. 12, 1760, Jonathan Paine of Falmouth, Housewright, for "One Hundred pounds lawful money paid by Ebenezer Mayo of Falmouth conveys to E. M. one quarter of an acre in Falmouth together with the buildings thereon standing", "being the same lot which I purchased of Joseph Thoms and Mary his wife . . . and Mercy my wife (In token of her free consent . . .) have hereto unto set our hands and Seals". (York Deeds, 34:80). Here we have evidence that Jonathan and Mercy (Doane) Paine were living in Falmouth as late as Feb. 12, 1760.

A further search of the baptismal records of Falmouth gives us:

Paine, Elizabeth, of Jonathan, 1751

" Thomas, 1752-5.

In the "History of Gorham, Me", by McLellan, p. 703, is this information of a Thomas Paine,

"Thomas Paine was probably a son of Jonathan Paine, who was a descendant of Thomas and Mary (Snow) Paine, of Eastham. (This Jonathan Paine was drowned at Saco in 1762.) Thomas Paine married in Portland, Dec. 6, 1781, Anna Haskell of Gorham . . . Thomas Paine was a soldier in the Revolution. He was living in Pownall in 1840, at the age of 84."

If he was 84 in 1840, Thomas Paine was born about 1755, and could be the Thomas, son of Jonathan, baptized in 1755, in Falmouth.

Apparently no complete list of the children of Jonathan and Mercy (Doane) Paine is known. No will or settlement of his estate has been found. If he met death by drowning (No contemporary record has been found to confirm this - which does not mean that it may not be true) there may very well not have been any will, and if there was once a record of the administration of his estate, it may have been lost in one of Portland's fires. In the issue of April 18, 1803, of Jenk's Portland Gazette is the following:

"Died.- At Falmouth Mrs. Mercy Paine, 94. She lived to see her 171st child, viz. 12 children, 83 grandchildren, 76 greatgrandchildren."

While there is in this item no intrinsic evidence that this old lady was Mercy (Doane) Paine, she must have been born about 1709, and been of suitable age to have been the wife of Jonathan Paine, born in 1710. (The exact date of birth of Mercy (Doane) Paine is not known.) Some search has been made and no other Mercy Paine has been found who could have been this aged Mercy. If this is the widow of Jonathan Paine, it is interesting to try to make a list of their twelve children from the seven that are known and other possibilities from the marriage records given above, assuming that children were born about every two years as was the case for the periods for which we have records:

Children of Jonathan and Mercy (Doane) Paine: (partly hypothetical)

Born at Eastham, Mass.

1. Phebe, b. 1734; m. at Falmouth, 1751, aged 17.
2. Mary*, b. 1736; m. at Falmouth, 1781, aged 45.
3. Experience, b. 1738; m. at Falmouth, 1754, aged 16.
4. Jonathan, b. 1741; m. at Falmouth, 1767, aged 26.
5. Mercy, b. 1743; m. at Falmouth, 1765, aged 22.

Birthplace unknown:

6. RELIANCE (?), b. 1745; m. at Falmouth, 1765, aged 20.
7. Hannah (?), b. 1747 (?); m. at Falmouth, 1762, aged 15 (?).
8. Sarah (?), b. 1749 (?); m. at Falmouth, 1773, aged 24 (?).

Birthplace Falmouth, Me.

9. Elizabeth, bpt. 1751; m. at Falmouth, 1773, aged 22.

10. _____, b. 1753 (?).

11. Thomas, bpt. 1755; m. at Falmouth, 1781, aged 26.

12. Mary (?), b. 1757 (?); m. at Falmouth, 1781, aged 24 (?).

(*The Doane Genealogy gives this child's name as "Mercy".

If this is correct, she died before 1743, and the Mary, married at Falmouth, could have been born later. The John Haskell who married Mary Paine was brother of Anna Haskell, wife of Thomas Paine.)

It will be seen that our Reliance "fits" nicely in this family. Some weight is added to the probability that she was the daughter of Jonathan Paine by a study of the names of his brothers and sisters. He was the tenth child in a family of eleven, whose births ranged over a period of twenty-one years, so that the younger members of the family must have been the playmates of Jonathan. These children were Phebe, aged about seven when Jonathan was born; RELIANCE, aged four; twins, Thomas and Mary, two years older than Jonathan, and Experience, who was born when he was not quite three. Among the known children of Jonathan we find Phebe, Experience, Mary and Thomas. Is it not highly probable that he also named a daughter for his sister Reliance?

"The History of the Cobb Family " says nothing of the residence of Jedidiah and Reliance (Paine) Cobb in Gorham, except to quote the marriage records of their younger daughters, in which they are "of Gorham". An interesting account is found in McLellan's "History of Gorham" and from this we learn that he was first taxed in Gorham in 1780. This author also says that Jedidiah died in Gorham, instead of Falmouth, as stated by Cobb.

A study of Cumberland Deeds furnishes evidence of a long association of Thomas Paine of Falmouth and Gorham, probably brother of Reliance (Paine) Cobb, with her husband Jedidiah Cobb, and his family.

Cumberland Deeds:

9:390, 21 Mar. 1775, Thomas Paine is witness, when Abigail Cobb, wife of Smith Woodward Cobb (brother of Jedidiah) released dower.

11:283, 10 Apr. 1781, Thomas Paine witness to a deed of Elizabeth Ross of Gorham to Jedidiah Cobb.

14:469, 10 May 1786, Jedidiah Cobb and Thomas Paine witnessed deed from Elizabeth Ross and others.

15:109, 1 May 1786, Thomas Paine and Jedidiah Cobb witnessed another deed of Elizabeth Ross et al.

22:337, 24 June 1794, Thomas Paine of Gorham to Jedidiah Cobb of Gorham—signed by Thomas Paine and Anna Paine.

27:327, 24 Oct. 1797, Thomas Paine of Gorham to Jedidiah Cobb of Gorham and William Cobb of Portland, housewright, (Jedidiah's oldest son was William).

42:443, 26 May 1796, Thomas Paine, a witness, together with children of the Cobb brothers to deed of Smith Woodward Cobb and Jedidiah Cobb to Jacob Adams.

It will be noted that Thomas Paine of Gorham was a housewright as was Jonathan of Falmouth. However, if Jonathan died in 1762, his son Thomas would have been about seven years old and could not have learned his trade from his father. When Jedidiah Cobb married Reliance Paine in 1765, Thomas would have been about ten years old. Is it not possible that he was apprenticed to Jedidiah Cobb, housewright? We know that the Rev. Mr. Deane employed Jedidiah Cobb to work on the house that he built at Gorham. Perhaps Thomas Paine was his helper and there met Anna Haskell, a Gorham girl, whom he married soon after Jedidiah Cobb went to Gorham to live.

From Cumberland Deeds we learn that another of Jonathan Paine's children, Mercy (Paine) Lowell, and her husband made their home in Gorham for some years. Cumberland Deeds:

17:299, 8 Sept. 1790, Benjamin Cates of Gorham. . . and Anna his wife. . . to Abner Lowell of Portland, land in Gorham, fifty acres more or less.

45:510, 1 June 1805, Abner Lowell of Portland. . Gentleman. . granted to William Cobb. . . of Portland. . Housewright . . .
fifty acres of land in Gorham. . the same I bought of Benjamin Cates eighty one square rods. . I bought of James Ross. . 21 Sept. 1793 ninety nine square rods deeded to me by Walter Ross of Gorham 14 December 1796. . .

the tracts aforesaid making my farm I lately occupied and lived on in said Gorham, with buildings thereon etc. Wife Mercy relinquishes her right of Dower. (Among the witnesses are Anna Lowell and Betsey Lowell, perhaps daughters.)

46:282, 1 June 1805, Abner Lowell to William Cobb. . . ten acres in Gorham which I purchased of Micah Whitney, Feb. 4, 1794. Wife Mercy relinquishes dower.

Could it be that Mercy (Paine) Lowell wished to live in Gorham to be near her sister, Reliance (Paine) Cobb, and moved back to Portland after her sister's death, selling the house to nephew William Cobb? From "Portland in the Past" we learn that Capt. Abner Lowell died in 1828, aged 87 years, and that he had eight children.

In summary it seems highly probable that the Reliance Paine who married Jedidiah Cobb was the daughter of Jonathan and Mercy (Doane) Paine, of Eastham, Mass. and Falmouth, Mo., for the following reasons: (1) the Jonathan Paine family lived at Falmouth at that period, and no evidence has been found of any other Paine family there at that time; (2) there were almost certainly twelve children in this family although we know the names of only seven; (3) the birthdate of our Reliance "fits" into a gap of eight years in the birth records of the family; (4) Jonathan Paine had a sister Reliance close to him in age and he named four of his known children for his siblings; (5) two of the known children of Jonathan lived for some years at Gorham, Mo., as did Jedidiah and Reliance (Paine) Cobb, and were associated with Jedidiah Cobb, his brother, Smith Woodward Cobb, and his son, William Cobb, in several deeds.

If this relationship could be established, the numerous descendants of Reliance(Paine) Cobb would also be descendants of Eldor William Browster and of Stephen Hopkins. This material is published in the hope that some reader may be able to add the one convincing fact.

There is another Reliance Paine who might be considered as a possible candidate for identification as the wife of Jedidiah Cobb - Reliance Paine, daughter of "Elkanna" and Reliance Paine, born in Truro, Mass., -- 19th, 1739. (Truro Vital Records). She is mentioned in her father's will, dated 12 Nov. 1773, probated 28 June 1774, but not as the wife of Jedidiah Cobb, although his marriage occurred several years before the will was made. She was about three years older than Jedidiah. Nothing is known to connect the family of Elkanah Paine with Falmouth or Gorham, Maine.

Some bits of additional data

The following items recently received do not add anything to the evidence of the identity of Reliance Paine; but they may prove useful to some one interested in other Paine marriages. See the record of Paine marriages in Falmouth, above. OMS

Mr. J. Crawford Hartman, 558 - 11th St., Brooklyn 15, N. Y., who is compiling a Blanchard genealogy, writes that the Moses Blanchard whose intentions of marriage with Sarah Pain are recorded in the records of the town of Falmouth, Maine, dated Sept. 23, 1754, was born at Medford, Mass., Jan. 5, 1726, the son of Aaron 4 (Joseph 3, George 2, Thomas 1) and Sarah Lotho. The marriage intentions of Falmouth also contain those of Moses Blanchard and Mary Barton, Apr. 1, 1758, so it is probable that Sarah (Pain) Blanchard had died before the latter date.

Miss Sybil Noyes of Saco, Maine, sends the following abstract: Cumberland Deeds 51:16 - Dudley Cammett of Portland, blockmaker, and a wife Mary, 13 Sept. 1806, when he sold "a piece of flats". One witness was Sarah Cammett. This would seem to indicate that Elizabeth (Paine) Cammett had died before this date.

"An important addition to the records of Royal Oak Township's early history has been made by William T. Miller of Ferndale. It is complete lists of the first purchasers of land in the area bounded by Eight-Mile and Fourteen-Mile roads, between Greenfield and Doquindre roads . . . (The) records of first purchases from the U. S. government cover the period from 1819 to 1837. They are arranged on three lists alphabetically, chronologically and by township sections. In addition, he compiled a card index of the transactions. . . The records will be filed in the historical collection of the Royal Oak Public Library."

VII. Oswald Dubs, The Seventh Immigrant.

OSWALD DUBS arrived in Philadelphia August 21, 1750, on the ship Anderson. His wife, Salome Bowman, came from Thun, Canton of Borne, Switzerland, and he may have come from the same place. Certainly they were married soon after his arrival, if not before. Family tradition has it that they settled in York County, Pennsylvania, between what is now Smith Station and Hanover, but, finding that place too dry, they moved three miles south to what is now known as Marburg. Oswald Dubs designated himself in his will as a sawmiller. He also owned several hundred acres of land. The activities of the homestead are well shown by the provisions of the will which was signed April 6, 1766 and probated August 26, 1766. The two sons were to furnish the mother and "sistern" annually with the following items: 12 bu. of wheat, 4 bu. of rye, 100 lbs. of pork, 6 lbs. of beef, 5 lbs. of wool, $\frac{1}{2}$ A. of flax seed, 2 cows kept in fodder, $\frac{1}{2}$ of the applies ("if it should give once some applies in the orchard") and 3 bee hives.

Oswald Dubs was buried in Wildasin's School House Burial Ground and his grave marked with a crudely lettered stone, erected some time after his death. The legend, "1766, Here liogt Oswald Dubs, der ald, und sein Enckel, Oswald Dubs, den 31 May 1782-1783" is now partly illegible, but the name and date, 1766, remain clear today (1946).

Salome Bowman Dubs, born February 24, 1722, died April 24, 1804. She left a will bequeathing her books to her daughters-in-law: her Bible and "Garden of Paradise" to Rozina and the rest to Margaret. She is also buried in Wildasin's School House Burial Ground.

The children of Oswald and Salome Dubs were:

1. Salome (mentioned in her father's will).
2. Voronica, m. Nicholas Saam (mentioned in her mother's will, but not in Orphan's Court record).
3. DANIEL, b. June 28, 1754; d. Aug. 8, 1837.
4. Barbara (aged 15 in 1771).
5. OSWALD, b. June 29, 1758; d. Jan. 6, 1848.
6. (The father's will mentions 8 children).
7. Christina (aged 7 in 1771).
8. Catherina (aged 6 in 1771).

VII. Oswald Dubs, The Seventh Immigrant, Second Generation.

DANIEL (2) DUBS, son of Oswald Dubs, was born June 28, 1754, died August 8, 1837 in Manheim Township, York County, Pennsylvania. He married Rozina ---, born January 12, 1758, who died August 22, 1829. He inherited the home place from his father, although acreage was cut off for his brother Oswald. The tax list of 1783 lists him as owning a saw mill, an oil mill and a hemp mill. He saw service in the Revolutionary War. He and his wife were buried at Wildasin's School House.

The children of Daniel and Rozina Dubs were:

1. Catherine, b. Oct. 10, 1778; d. June 24, 1861; unmarried.
2. Oswald (child buried in his grandfather's grave?).
3. OSWALD, b. Apr. 9, 1783; d. 1863.

OSWALD (2) DUBS, son of Oswald Dubs, born June 29, 1758, died January 6, 1848. He married Margaret Thoman, born November 19, 1759, died May 24, 1841. He was born and died on the farm which he inherited from his father in Manheim Township, York County, Pennsylvania. He served as private in Capt. Andrew Foroman's Company, October 10 to December 10, 1781, when that militia company was guarding prisoners at Camp Security, York County, Pennsylvania. He and his wife were members of the Reformed Church. They were both buried at Wildasin's School House.

The children of Oswald and Margaret Dubs were:

1. Catherino, b. July 5, 1782; m. Jacob Gable.
2. Susenna, b. June 26, 1783; m. Henry Huber.

VII. Oswald Dubs, Seventh Immigrant, Third Generation.

OSWALD (3) DUBS (Daniel 2, Oswald 1), born April 9, 1783, Manheim Township, York County, Pennsylvania, died 1863, Center County, Pennsylvania. He married Magdalena ---, Oswald Dubs went to Center County in 1805 or 6, settling on land his father had bought there in Brush Valley. He became joint owner of this property with his brother George. Later he moved to Sugar Valley where he died.

The children of Oswald and Magdalena Dubs were:

1. Samuel.
2. Daniel, m. (1) Catherine Meyer, (2) Hannah Kroamor.
3. Mary, m. Jacob Wolf.
4. Catherine, m. John Pickle.

THE BIBLE OF WILLIAM ANDREW GILLESPIE (1841-1925)
Contributed by Mrs. Chalmers A. Monteith of Martin, Michigan.

Note:- Holman's edition of the HOLY BIBLE was printed in 1879 at No. 930 Arch Street, Philadelphia by A. J. Holman Co. It was purchased by William A. Gillespie from Roberts & Hillhouse, 148 Main Street, Kalamazoo, Michigan. It was among the effects of his daughter Jennie, who died in 1943, and was given to Mrs. Monteith (Ruth Robbins) with data of the Monteith Family which Jennie, as long time secretary of Clan Monteith, possessed. The following records are from the Bible, some of them being on loose papers in it. The records are copied verbatim.

A N S W E R S

1019: H-12: HATHAWAY-SMITH-ROUNSEVILLE:- This happens to be just what I am searching for to complete the lineage of my mother, Clarissa O. Smith, who mar. Henry Quick (see "The Quick Family in America" by Arthur C. Quick). I have not been able to find the given name of Capt. Hathaway nor a record of his marriage to Gabriella de Maranville, who later married William Rounseville. I am glad to pass on such information as I have collected from family tradition and public records that it may help to solve the missing data.

Benjamin Smith, the immigrant, m. Abigail Cudworth (see N. E. Gen. Reg. Vol. 30, p. 464), b. Mar. 9, 1699, dau of James 3 and Betty Hatch; they had Deacon Abner Smith, d. 1795, mar. Mar. 11, 1757, Deliverance Cudworth, b. June 29, 1738, dau. of James 4 and Sybil Chase (Freetown, Mass. Records). Their children were:

- | | | | |
|----------------|------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------|
| 1. Ebenezer | b. Mar. 29, 1759 | m. Permilla Chase | |
| 2. Abigail | b. Nov. 22, 1760 | m. John Strango | d. July 4, 1793 |
| 3. Deliverance | b. Dec. 4, 1762 | m. --- Codding | |
| 4. Abner | b. Jan. 22, 1764 | m. Zeruah Briggs | |
| 5. Abial | b. Feb. 23, 1766 | m. Lucy Blossom | |
| 6. Israel | | m. Anna Ashley | |
| 7. GILBERT | | m. CYNTHIA HATHAWAY - Apr. 30, 1795 | |
| 8. Edward | | (Freetown, Mass. Records.) | |

Children of Gilbert and Cynthia (Hathaway) Smith:

- | | | |
|---------------|------------------|--|
| 1. Ebenezer | b. Oct. 7, 1795 | |
| 2. William R. | b. Jan. 1, 1798 | m. Polly Vickory - 1818 - dau. of John Vickory, Revolutionary soldier, |
| | (my grandfather) | m. Percival Ashloy, son of Col. Simeon Ashloy. |
| 3. Elizabeth | b. Nov. 7, 1799 | |
| 4. Adolia | b. June 20, 1802 | m. Roubon Higgins |
| 5. Gilbert | b. June 30, 1806 | m. (1) Mary Vickory, (2) Urania Yaple |
| 6. Bradford | b. 1810 | m. Susan Hulslander (1811-1912) |
| 7. Cynthia | b. | m. Nathaniel Curtis Tiffany |

Gilbert Smith died in the War of 1812 at Black Rock near Buffalo, N. Y. Cynthia (Hathaway) Smith mar. (2) --- Howett; had two sons, George and Frederick, who were adopted by other people at Cynthia's death.

Family tradition, furnished by Adolia (Smith) Higgins, above, says that Cynthia (Hathaway) Smith was the dau. of a Capt. Hathaway (given name unknown) who died at sea. His widow Gabriella, on Oct. 4, 1776, mar. William Rounseville under her maiden name of de Maranville (Freetown Records and Rounseville Genealogy). The Freetown Records make a mistake in saying that she was the dau. of Stephen de Maranville of Freetown, while Taunton Deeds 79-488 and Taunton Probate 35-306 prove that she was the dau. of Louis de Maranville.

By William Rounseville, Gabriella de Maranville (Hathaway?) had those children:

- | | |
|-------------|-----------------------|
| 1. Asenath | m. Dr. Elisha Briggs |
| 2. Abiathor | m. Polly Pierce |
| 3. Susan | m. Col. Simeon Ashloy |
| 4. Botsey | m. Dr. James Ashley |
| 5. Bradford | m. Hannah Rounseville |

The Ashleys and Rounsevilles were early emigrants from Freetown, Mass. to the town of Caroline, Tompkins Co., N. Y., where they were highly respected and influential citizens. William R. Smith came on horseback and took up land and the other Smith children followed and lived with their aunts and uncles, the Ashleys and Rounsevilles. Does anyone know the given name of this Capt. Hathaway of Freetown and is there any record of his marriage to Gabriella (de Maranville) Rounseville? I am 86 years old and anxious to complete my mother's lineage.
